

Acknowledgements

I have been extremely fortunate to have had the support of the department, family, friends, and colleagues near and far. Without this support, this thesis would not have been possible.

First, and most importantly, I would like to thank my supervisor, Scott Graham, for the countless hours that he dedicated to this thesis. His understanding and expertise in my area of research greatly improved the contents of this thesis; I couldn't have chosen a better supervisor! I am grateful for his helpful comments, suggestions, and constructive criticism throughout this entire project. My thesis has benefitted substantially from his insightful recommendations. Thank you so much.

I am grateful to Songnian Zhou for providing me with the initial inspiration for my thesis in the field of distributed load sharing. I appreciate the time that you took from your busy schedule to be the second reader of my thesis, and the helpful suggestions that you provided.

I would like to thank the Department of Computer Science at the University of Toronto for providing the computer facilities and the financial support that permitted me to complete my thesis. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to John DiMarco who tirelessly answered my questions about various CDF system hardware and software issues. Thanks also to the Erindale system administrators, especially Gordon Cook, for tolerating my resource-intensive SAS runs. I would also like to acknowledge the many people who replied to the questions that I posted to the SAS (comp.soft-sys.sas), L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X (comp.text.tex), simulation (comp.simulation), and operating systems (comp.os.research) newsgroups.

I am grateful to my family for their constant love and support; thank you to my Mom and Dad, and to my sisters, Leslie and Nancy. Thanks for your understanding, your never-ending encouragement, and for always being there for me. Your support has meant more to me than you could possibly realize.

I would like to thank my boyfriend, Marc Ouellette, for being so supportive while I was working on my thesis. Thanks for taking the time to proofread the earlier drafts of my thesis and for your many constructive suggestions. Thanks for your emotional support, for being so understanding, and for being such a great friend. Merci ben, SW! Je t'aime.

The friendship and support of my friends and relatives has been wonderful. I would like to thank you all, but I especially want to thank Heidi, Bizu, Monika, Kathy, Sherry, Julie, Janet, Bette, Rich, Bridget, Sue Ann, Bill, William, and Vince. I'd like to say a special thanks to my best friend, Heidi, for always telling me, "I know you can do it!" To Bridget Bates and Sue Ann, a very special thanks for being such great friends and for sharing your apartment for my pizza lunches (even if Master steals my pepperoni!). To Bizu, Monika, and the R othlisberger family in Switzerland, "Danke viel mal!" To Heidi and Marg, thanks for the dinners and for the special coffees. Thanks to my roommates (especially Xiaolei, Noriko, Sujata, Hiroko, Jenn, Alice, Gillian, and Gigi) and the staff at the University of Toronto St. George Graduate residence. Thanks also to Daniel for keeping me company in the lab during the day, and thanks to Nick for keeping me company during the wee hours of the morning!

Next, I'd like to thank the many friends and nice people who I have met through the sports that I have played. Thanks for the memories that we have shared over the past few years, and for providing an outlet for my research. In particular, I'd like to thank MB, Hil, Shan-man, Steph, Joan & Ian, LT & Kerry, Ali, Lori, Liz, Cathy, Heather, Nat, Lesley, Leanne, Winnie, Shoe, Chris, Michelle, Sobek, Karen, AJ, Vicky, Di, Sophie, Barb, and of course the 95-96 rookies. I'd like to acknowledge all of my teammates from the University of Toronto Varsity Blues women's hockey team, the COWHL Senior AAA league, Team Canada, the Toronto Dragons Ball Hockey team, DHC Langenthal, the Toronto Tornado roller hockey team, the Bay Street Rollers roller hockey team, the Film Art Flyers morning hockey, and of course the DCS Friday afternoon hockey clan! Much thanks to my coaches Karen Hughes, Phil Delaire, and Dave McMaster for being so understanding. I'd like to thank the Happy Hackers softball team for helping me to maintain my sanity during the last few months of my thesis. A special thanks to Steve and Marc for escorting me to the hospital during our last game!

Finally, I would like to thank the Lord for providing me with the ability and perseverance that was needed to complete this work.

Thank you.
